A NOTE FROM OUR LEADERS

Dear Friends,

Fourteen years ago, the Pat Tillman Foundation was born overnight in the wake of tremendous tragedy, and with determination to honor a man whose passion for life was contagious.

On and off the field, Pat made his mark as an athlete, scholar, soldier and leader. Together, the Tillman Scholars are now making their mark as leaders in the fields of medicine, business, law, social work, public policy, technology, education, and the arts. As you'll see in this report, we are making a profound impact by investing in their potential.

In 2017, we welcomed another remarkable class of Tillman Scholars, and expanded the network to more than 520 leaders nationwide. As the next generation of private and public sector leaders, the Tillman Scholars are tackling challenges across national security, healthcare, technology, civil rights and education. They believe their best years of service to our country are still ahead of them, and they are committed to strengthening communities at home and around the world.

We're proud to support each of them in their drive to serve and empower others. To date, we have invested more than $15 million, and last year, we kept overhead spending at 5 percent while achieving an over 80 percent program expense ratio. Charity Navigator, America's largest and most-utilized independent evaluator of charities, recognized our work — awarding us a 4-star rating for exceeding standards.

This many years on, we are humbled and grateful for our donors, university partners, the board leadership, and our experienced and dedicated staff. In the following pages, you will find a report detailing our activities throughout the year. Yet, there is so much more to do, and we hope you will find even more ways to get involved and invest our impact in 2018.

On behalf of the Tillman Scholars who have been empowered by your commitment and generosity, thank you.

MARIE TILLMAN

PATRICK TILLMAN

ATHLETE. SCHOLAR. SOLDIER. LEADER.

Pat was born in 1976 in San Jose, California. He led his high school team to a championship after he was told he was too small to ever play football. Arizona State University recognized Pat's potential with a scholarship to play as a linebacker for the Sun Devils. What Pat lacked in size, he more than made up for in intensity—he led ASU to the 1997 Rose Bowl after an undefeated season. Between games, Pat earned a B.S. in Marketing, graduating Summa Cum Laude.

The Arizona Cardinals selected Pat in the 7th round of the 1998 NFL Draft. Despite skepticism about his ability, he became the team's starting safety and broke the franchise record for tackles in 2000 with 224. However, Pat's NFL success did not go to his head. He drove to games in the same beat-up truck he had in college. In the off-season, he challenged himself with marathons and triathlons while pursuing a master's degree in history from ASU. He volunteered with Boys and Girls Clubs, the March of Dimes, and local schools.

In the spring of 2002, Pat married his high school love, Marie. He then decided to place his NFL career on hold, turning down a $3.6 million contract to enlist in the U.S. Army. Pat and his brother Kevin joined the U.S. Army that July, committing to a three-year term. They were assigned to the second battalion of the 75th Ranger Regiment, and served tours in Iraq in 2003 and in Afghanistan in 2004. On April 22, 2004, Pat's unit was ambushed. His heroic efforts to provide cover for fellow soldiers led to his tragic death via fratricide.

While the story of Pat's death may have been more publicized, it is Pat's life, principles and service that are his true legacy—and this foundation's inspiration.

WHO WE ARE

Family and friends established the Pat Tillman Foundation (PTF) following Pat's death in April 2004 while he was serving with the 75th Ranger Regiment in Afghanistan. Through the Tillman Scholars program, PTF is building the leading fellowship program for military veterans and spouses. Founded in 2008, the program supports active-duty service members, veterans and their spouses with academic scholarships, a national network and professional development opportunities, so they are empowered to make an impact at home and around the world. These Tillman Scholars are already making a difference in the fields of medicine, law, business, technology, education, the arts and more. That's why your support for PTF is more than a gift—it's an investment.

Jonny's desire to protect those who cannot protect themselves galvanized him to enlist in the Navy at age 18. He found his passion in medicine during his service as a Naval Special Warfare Medic in the Iraq War, where he was inspired by the skill and devotion of the physicians who saved his teammates' lives.

Inspired by the sacrifices of his teammates, Jonny is driven to lead his life in a way that may leave a contributing mark in this world. In 2017, NASA selected him from 18,000 applicants to continue his passion for service, education and scientific advancement as an Astronaut Candidate. He reported for duty in August 2017.

At Tillman Honors, we were proud to recognize leaders within our community for their remarkable civic contributions, extraordinary fortitude and spirit of service. This year, we were honored to present the Champion Award to former Congresswoman Gabrielle Giffords and Captain Mark Kelly for their lifelong commitment to public service, and the Make Your Mark Award to 2010 Tillman Scholar Chris Roessner, screenwriter and executive producer of Sand Castle. Tillman Honors also showcased impact talks by three Tillman Scholars who, in their own unique ways, are making their mark to write the story of a better future for our country and communities.

As a Tillman scholar, the surviving spouse of a military veteran, and mother of two children, one of whom is autistic, Heather Barnett wears many hats.

She seeks to honor her husband's service to his country and their children by developing and improving upon programs that support and encourage the educational success of Autistic students in higher education. Heather is interested in designing programs equipped with proper supports, accommodations and trained personnel that will enable those who require more assistance to complete degree programs and find suitable employment that fits their skillset. Her passion for service drives her fight for better educational opportunities for her son and other students like him.

Shortly following her son's diagnoses, Heather signed up for a marathon and has been running in races ever since. Most recently, Heather served as the captain for Team Tillman in the Bank of America Chicago Marathon in October, 2017.
